1) postage stamps, postal stationery, or other material created and/or used to signify pre-payment or payment due for postal services
2) stamps or labels resembling the material described above, but which have no postal value
3) cancellations or other markings created and/or used by a postal administration to show evidence of postal usage

These records include postage stamps, postal stationery items, postal covers, revenue stamps, labels, international reply coupons, and postal markings. Also included in the scope of this chapter are the printed pre-production materials created as part of the design process for the philatelic products.

The rules in this chapter may be used to describe issued or unissued philatelic records which constitute a fonds or a part thereof.

For records falling within the scope of other chapters but presenting philatelic information (e.g., pictures or photographs of a stamp created as part of the design process), consult the rules in this chapter in conjunction with those of the chapter appropriate to the records.

For multilevel description of philatelic records, see also chapter 1. For multiple media fonds, see chapter 2.

12.0B. Sources of information

12.0B1. Chief source of information. The chief sources of information for philatelic records are as follows:\footnote{For all levels of description other than the file and item (fonds, series) the chief source of information for a sub-division is the same as the chief source for that level.}

1. for a fonds, all of the material in the fonds;
2. for a series, all of the material in the series;
3. for a file, all of the material in the file, including the container;
4. for an item, prefer in this order, information found (a) on the item itself, or (b) on the container.

The British American Bank Note Company Limited was founded in 1866. It specialized in security printing for government and private industry. Over its history, the company printed stamps, bank notes, passports, securities, bank stationery, lottery tickets, as well as other printed matter. The British American Bank Note Company also designed many of the products it printed. As well, it was involved in the research and development of methods to guard against counterfeiting.

The company was formed from two groups of printers, one headed by George Bull Burland and the other by W.C. Smillie. The British American Bank Note Company later absorbed two smaller printers, the Dominion Bank Note Company and the Canada Bank Note Company.

In 1984, the British American Bank Note Company became a wholly owned subsidiary of BCE Inc. As part of the sale of BCE PubliTech in 1988, the business was transferred to Quebecor Printing Inc. It was subsequently known as the BA Banknote Division of Quebecor Printing Inc.

Major Richard (Dick) Kenneth Malott was born in Kingsville, Ont. on 31 Oct. 1927. He married Dorothy Payne on 28 Feb. 1953. They have one son, Douglas.

In 1965 he obtained a Master of Science Degree in Logistics and Computers at the United States Air Force Institute of Technology at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Dayton, Ohio.

Dick Malott’s main hobby is aerophilately. He specializes in Canadian pioneer and semi-official air mail flown envelopes, and interrupted (crash) covers. Fonds consists of issued stamps and proof material printed by the British American Bank Note Company. The bulk of the records contain material created for definitive, commemorative, postage due, air mail, air mail special delivery, special delivery, and post card issues for the Post Office Department. These records were apparently retained by the printer as samples to document its work. The material is arranged into two parts: one containing plate proofs of philatelic items, the other containing issued stamps and related documentation.

Series consists of a presentation album containing single images from plate proofs of stamps, plate essays of unissued stamp designs, and plate proofs of post cards. Most of the material was printed for Canada's Post Office Department.
